

JOHN SQUEO, MBA, CHCIO

Accenture, Principal Director for Healthcare Technology Strategy

Accenture Lead for Blockchain Strategic Growth Initiative for Healthcare North America

John is a Principal Director for Technology Strategy in Healthcare at Accenture and leads our blockchain initiatives for North America Health.

He is an industry-leading expert on strategies for payer and provider convergence and health system growth strategies using IoT sensors, artificial intelligence, telemedicine, aging-in-place tech, and clinical data integration across the continuum-of-care.

Over his 24-year career, John has served as Chief Innovation & Strategy Officer and CIO with large health systems and has consulted to life sciences and health insurance payers leading care model reimagination, digital transformation and automation by leveraging advanced technologies including AI.

He holds an MBA from the University of Kentucky and has completed work in Artificial Intelligence for a PhD.

Before joining Accenture, John was Chief Innovation & Strategy Officer for Thorek Memorial Hospital where he led the Office of Innovation and was responsible for payer contract alignment strategies, business intelligence, and predictive analytics to improve the targeting of preventative care programs to alleviate the increasing financial burden incurred due to chronic conditions.

John has held positions with Vanguard Health Systems and HCA and currently serves on the board of directors for Access to Care of Cook County, Chicago whose mission is to provide healthcare to all patients in need, regardless of ability to pay or legal residency.