

Samantha is an assurance senior manager in the EY San Francisco office and has more than 15 years of experience in accounting and finance. She has experience in serving a range of emerging private to mature public international clients. Samantha has led both private and public company audits from early stage start up audits from inception to coordinating international engagements with public accounting experience in the US, Canada and Australia. Samantha has significant experience with life sciences and biotech companies in all stages and helps clients with a variety of technical accounting and finance matters. Prior to moving to the Bay Area Samantha was a Director of Finance for a private investment company.