

About the speaker

Alejandro Gené, Chief Privacy Counsel, Legal Advisor,

is a member of the Legal Dept of Celgene, based in its International Headquarters (Boudry, Switzerland). He is responsible for global data privacy matters including the development and implementation of Celgene's Privacy Program. He also has oversight over the Contracts team; the staff managing the Record Retention Program and Corporate Secretarial matters as well as different legal advisors.

Alejandro is a Spanish qualified lawyer with a Masters in International Law from I.S.D.E. and International Business Law from E.S.A.D.E. Before joining Celgene in 2008 Alejandro worked in different law firms including TGG Advocats, Jausas and Ernst&Young.

Alejandro represents Celgene in different Privacy Networks and Associations, such as the International Pharmaceutical & Medical Consortium, DP Legal and E.F.P.I.A's Data Protection Working Group.