

Colleen Chelini

Colleen Chelini is a director in PwC's Health Industries practice. She has over 11 years' experience at PwC and has been PwC's program director for Bodylogical since 2013. She's worked extensively across the healthcare industry and has a passion for how data and analytics can be used to improve health and wellness to finally establish ROIs in the industry. She has a sports medicine background as a certified athletic trainer have worked with Stanford Universities rugby teams and managed the corporate wellness programs for Hewlett Packard. She graduated from UC Davis with a BS in Exercise Science, an MA from San Jose State in Kinesiology and an MBA from Duke University.