

Patrick Desbiens leads GSK's vaccines business in the US, bringing more than 25 years of industry insight. Patrick joined the US business in 2015 after serving as President of GSK France for nearly 3 years, overseeing the Pharma and Vaccines businesses and all GSK operations there. Previously he led the Sales & Marketing pharma teams in France and also served as General Manager for GSK Romania. A native French speaker from Montreal, Patrick started his career as a pharma rep with Eli Lilly-Canada before joining GSK Canada in 1996 where he worked across several functions in sales, marketing, communications, market access and public affairs.