

Jenn Fenwick
Director and Career Coach, Rebel Road Coaching

Jenn is a Director and Career coach at Rebel Road Coaching, helping people accelerate their careers and confidently navigate career transitions. She spent 14yrs in Pharma/Biotech working as a Global Talent Director, supporting organisations, from startup to global Fortune 500, attract and develop their people. Over the years she has supported over 1000 people, from junior level to senior exec, take brave steps in their careers.

She now runs her own career coaching business where she uses her experience and knowledge to inspire people to be ambitious with their careers, then supports them as they step out their comfort zone.

Jenn believes health and wellbeing is critical to career success, so always ensures her clients are prioritising life... as well as work.

Her programmes work to ensure that clients transition confidently into new roles without burning out.

Jenn loves to travel, and is a part-time "adventure enabler".