

Ruth O'Keefe

Ruth oversees the community awareness needs of ThinkGenetic, a startup that offers a web-based AI toolkit focused on offering trustworthy information and decreasing the time of diagnosis for those living with or caring for someone with a genetic condition. In addition, she works directly with advocacy and support groups, helps suggest appropriate technology, and oversees condition and digital marketing content strategy.